Mixed Methods Research and Causal Inference

5 – 6 May 2022

Cornwallis Octagon LT2

Day 1

12.45 – 13.00	Welcome and Introduction
13.00 – 14.00	Triangulation, Incommensurability and conditionalization Ittay Nissan-Rozen and Amir Liron (The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel)
14.05 – 15.05	Using Mixed Methods Research to Resolve the Tension between Global and Local Psychiatric Approaches Elena Popa (FLAME University, India)
15.05 – 15.20	Tea/Coffee Break
15.20 – 16.20	Evidential Variety and Mixed Methods Research Jaakko Kuorikoski and Caterina Marchionni (University of Helsinki, Finland)
16.30 – 17.30	Keynote 1: Philosophical and Methodological Innovations in Mixed Methods Research Burke Johnson (University of South Alabama, USA) - Online
19.00 – 20.30	Conference Dinner

Day 2

9.30 – 10.30	Why Mixed Methods Provide Better Causal Evidence: A New Argument and Example from Social Policy Ben Baumberg Geiger (University of Kent, UK)
10.35 – 11.35	Limits to Evidential Pluralism: Multi-Method Large-N Qualitative Analysis and the Primacy of Mechanistic Studies Rosa Runhardt (Radboud University Nijmegen, Netherlands)
11.35 – 11.50	Tea/Coffee Break
11.50 – 12.50	One Size Doesn't Fit All: Concepts of Causality in Mixed Methods and Multimethod Approaches Virginia Ghiara (Early Intervention Foundation, UK)
13.00 – 14.00	Keynote 2: Mixed Methods Research in Political Science: Methodological, Evidential, and Causal Pluralisms Sharon Crasnow (Norco College, USA)